

Given the core-periphery model of the planet as seen in diagram form below. It could be said that certain things flow from core to periphery and others from periphery to core. “Loans” for example flow from core to periphery and “refugees” often flow in the reverse direction.

Label the arrows on the diagram with any other things you can brainstorm which flow in the two directions.

